NOTES TO APPLICATION

Entitlement to register

Only those persons who can whakapapa directly by blood lines to the hapū of Whakatōhea.

Inability to complete enrolment form

To be registered as a beneficiary it is necessary that you prove your entitlement to be registered. However, if you are unable to complete all parts of your enrolment form do as much as you can and send the form in. The Trust Board will check your enrolment form, and if they are able to will complete the form for you.

Ensure you sign the declaration on page 4

Affiliation to Hapū

It is recognized many are able to whakapapa to more than one of the hapū of Whakatōhea. While you must designate one hapū for voting purposes, you are welcome to list all the hapu you can affiliate to.

Spouse Partner

If your spouse/partner can whakapapa back to a hapū of Whakatōhea then he/she will need to complete their own separate enrolment form. A spouse/partner who is unable to whakapapa back to a hapu can be entered on your enrolment but will not be registered as a beneficiary. However he/she will be linked to you as your spouse/partner. Your spouse/partner will also link as the other parent of the children you have listed.

Issue (Nga Tamariki)

You should list all your issue (children) on this enrolment form. Those who are 18 years or older MUST complete their own enrolment form and sign it themselves. Please use a separate piece of paper if you have more than eight (8) issues. Beneficiaries under the age of 18 will be registered but not for voting purposes. Once they turn eighteen (18) a Beneficiary Registration Form will be sent out for them to register for voting purposes.

Whakapapa

It is accepted your whakapapa is your personal taonga. However, it is a requirement for you to prove your entitlement to be entered onto the Whakatōhea Māori Trust Board Beneficiary Register.

Change of Address & details – Amendment Form

It is important your details and address are updated if there is any change to ensure you receive voting forms and any notifications. This can be done by completing an Amendment Form.
